'Tis the Season!
Support The Frost Place

The Frost Place Museum closed for the season as always at the end of October when the collection was removed and the house was prepared for the coming winter months.

Sub-zero temperatures have enveloped the house this week and we are heartened to think about Robert Frost, his wife Elinor, and their four children living in the white house on Ridge Road in the middle of winter beginning in 1915. Brrrrr!

The just-ended 38th season of The Frost Place has been fabulous.

About 3,600 visitors came to walk where Frost walked and inspect the rooms where he lived and worked. Poets, students, and teachers came to study, commune, and hone their craft. The community came together at readings and events. Local school groups from New Hampshire attended classes in the Henry Holt Barn.

Frost's little spot in Franconia proved to be a more popular destination than ever.

We keep The Frost Place and the memory of Robert Frost tangibly alive--with your help.

It is this community, of which you are a part, which makes the poetry programs, poetry trail, and museum possible.

We would like to take this moment to thank you for your support.

Again, it can't be said enough -- Thank you!

With Much Appreciation,

The Frost Place Staff

“What I admire about The Frost Place is that you have cultivated an environment where the writing process is taken seriously, and where all voices are honored. [...] As I write this, it becomes increasingly clear to me how essential The Frost Place has been to my continued growth as a poet.”

Amanda Newell, 2014 Frost Place
Scholarship Recipient

According to Frost:

"It is only a moment here and a moment there that the greatest writer has."

Thank you for spending some of your moments at The Frost Place--we hope that you will return and encourage others to visit us for their first time at Robert Frost's former Franconia, NH home.
