The 4th Annual Frost Place Chapbook Contest
Sponsored by Bull City Press
Final Judge: Afaa Michael Weaver

The chapbook contest is a collaborative effort between The Frost Place, a nonprofit center for poetry and the arts at Robert Frost's former homestead in Franconia, NH and Bull City Press, publisher of Inch magazine and fine poetry books. The winner receives a $250 cash prize, 10 copies of a 200 print run of the selected chapbook, a full fellowship to attend The Frost Place Poetry Seminar valued at $1,500, a featured reading at the Seminar, and the option to live and write for one week in The Frost Place house in September during peak fall foliage, at a time agreed upon by the fellow and The Frost Place.

The 2016 Dartmouth Poet in Residence at The Frost Place

Since 1977 The Frost Place has housed a resident poet during the summer months at Robert Frost's former home in Franconia, NH. A prize of $2,000, a six-to-eight week residency at Robert Frost's former home in Franconia, New Hampshire, and featured readings at Dartmouth College and at The Frost Place, is given annually to a poet who has published at least one poetry collection. The aim of this program is to select a poet who is at an artistic and personal crossroads, comparable to that faced by Robert Frost when he moved to Franconia in 1915, when he was not yet known to a broad public.

Submission Period For Both: October 1, 2015 – January 1, 2016.

Submissions Fee: $28.00. Submissions are only accepted online through the online submission manager. Look for the link to our submission manager, as well as information about summer programs at The Frost Place, on the home page of The Frost Place website: www.frostplace.org.

The Frost Place Presents the Still Puddle Poets

at the Athenaeum, St. Johnsbury, VT

The Frost Place Presents the Still Puddle Poets, October 10th at 3 PM, reading poetry at the St. Johnsbury Athenaeum in St. Johnsbury, VT.

Against the stunning backdrop of the Athenaeum's painting "The Domes of Yosemite" an enormous ten by fifteen foot painting by Albert Bierstadt, poets will read their own work, and poems inspired by or written about The Frost Place, Robert Frost's former home in Franconia, NH.

The Still Puddle Poets, led by Deming Holleran and Phyllis Katz, is a small group of poets based in the Hanover, NH area which meets monthly to share their work in a collaborative spirit. The group has published two collections of their work, and several members have published poetry collections since the inception of the group.

The Frost Place is very pleased to partner with the St. Johnsbury Athenaeum on this event. As one of the regionally most important library and public spaces for learning, it is a pleasure to offer this free program as a unique opportunity to showcase poets from neighboring states Vermont and New Hampshire. This event is free and open to the public. Following the reading, light refreshments will be served.

"The Still Puddle Poets are committed to their community and to their craft. The variety of poetic voices and styles and beautiful venue make this a must attend," said executive director of The Frost Place, Maudelle Driskell.

The Frost Place is located at 158 Ridge Road, Franconia, NH. Please call 603-823-5510, or email frost@frostplace.org with further questions. The St. Johnsbury Athenaeum is located at 1171 Main Street, St. Johnsbury, VT 05819 Contact Shara McCaffrey with further questions: 802-748-8291
